

HP Ink Cartridges for Home/ Office Desktop Devices Earn UL 2801 ECOLOGO® Certification

UL 2801: Standard for Sustainability for Printing Inks

With its origins in electrical and fire safety, UL Solutions was established in 1894 as an electrical testing laboratory to benefit the insurance underwriting industry and improve building safety. Today, UL Solutions is a globally recognized, independent, third-party safety-certification company with dozens of offices and physical test facilities located worldwide. Built upon its commitment to safety, UL Solutions' focus has expanded significantly over its long history, and today a remarkable 22 billion products across a range of scientific, industrial, and medical equipment, along with chemicals, robotics, and lasers, have earned the UL listed or certified marks, labels, and badges.¹

Much of UL Solutions testing, inspection, and certification is set forth by recognized global organizations such as the International Standards Organization (ISO), the American Society for Testing Materials (ASTM), and the California Department of Public Health (CDPH). Additionally, through UL Standards and Engagement sister company, the company has developed more than 1,600 proprietary standards that also relate to safety, quality, and environmental sustainability, one of which is the "UL ECOLOGO® Standard 2801-2015 for Sustainability for Printing Inks."

Outlined explicitly in the standard are criteria for:

- Being free of concentrated hazardous substances above EU Directive 1272 limits
- Having an energy management plan in place
- Ink packaging and labeling
- Providing socially and environmentally responsible manufacturing in facilities with an effective environmental management system

Among UL Solutions' considerable environmental objectives, two that are especially aligned with the 2801 standard can be found within the company's mission statement, in which it commits:

- "To promote safe, secure and sustainable living and working environments for people by the application of science, hazard-based safety engineering and data acumen"
- "To support the production and use of products which are environmentally safer"²

"UL Solutions recognizes that retailers and manufacturers are moving beyond regulatory requirements and working to establish programs that reduce or eliminate certain chemicals from their supply chain, manufacturing processes and products."³

UL ECOLOGO® Ink Certification Program

Together with its expansive green initiatives, UL Solutions applied the criteria within the UL 2801 standard to establish its ECOLOGO® certification program for printing inks. According to UL, "The technology that a company chooses for its print output will help determine how eco-conscious the business will become. Digital inkjet printing technology is a prime example of a printing method that supports a reduction of environmental contamination."⁴

UL ECOLOGO® is a prominent, voluntary certification issued by UL Solutions and recognized worldwide. ECOLOGO® Certification to UL 2801 demonstrates that an ink meets a range of stringent multi-attribute, lifecycle-based criteria, which take into account the manufacturing, usage, and disposal of inks, with occupational health and safety, and reduced environmental impact its primary considerations. The standard criteria include testing for heavy metals content and solvents, requirements for low emission printing for indoor air quality performance, and requirements for packaging and labeling. A UL ECOLOGO® ink certification indicates that a product has been rigorously tested to comply with environmental performance standards throughout its life cycle. The criteria for this voluntary certificate cover a range of categories, including health and environment.

For the certification process, HP submits the inks and appropriate documentation voluntarily to UL Solutions with the goal of proving compliance to the stringent UL 2801 standard, with all products required to meet or exceed each of the criteria before receiving the mark. ECOLOGO® Certification demonstrates to purchasers that HP inks have been thoroughly evaluated by UL Solutions, a trustworthy third-party laboratory, and verified to have reduced environmental impact, reduction of objectionable chemicals, and reduced emissions. Environmental benefits will thus be realized through improved air quality, a reduction in emissions, and resource conservation.⁵

Significant Number of HP Inks Earn ECOLOGO® Certification

More than 700 Original HP ink supplies are certified with the UL ECOLOGO®. These ink supplies are designed for HP printers used in homes, small businesses, and large businesses, as well as commercial large format print shops focused on graphic arts printing. An HP representative said the company intends to renew these UL ECOLOGO® 2801 ink certificates for small format home and business printers before they expire. The HP representative said eligibility for possible UL ECOLOGO® 2801 certification is a factor they consider when developing new small format home and business HP ink supplies.

Original HP ink supplies certified with UL ECOLOGO® meet stringent health and environmental criteria for reduced environmental impact with certified sustainability. (Original HP ink certification to UL 2801 demonstrates compliance with a range of multi-attribute, lifecycle-based criteria related to human health and environmental considerations, see UL.com/EL and keypointintelligence.com/HPInkUL).

The long list of certified UL ECOLOGO® 2801 HP inks for small format desktop printers can be found here. Of the more than roughly 705 UL ECOLOGO® 2801 printing ink products listed on May 15, 2024, HP holds a clear sustainability advantage over other printer OEM companies. When reviewing the UL SPOT online database, the vast majority are HP's OEM inks. Other manufacturers who have UL ECOLOGO® 2801 certified ink supplies have products designed for use in commercial graphics arts printers. They are Durst Austria GmbH with food-grade ink supplies, Brother Industries Ltd with WC1-L latex ink products and Roland DG Corporation with TrueVIS Resin TA ink products. Moreover, currently there are no third-party/aftermarket inks for HP printers that have certification. Among the HP inks that were previously certified in 2019 are HP PageWide water-based inks for odorless printing in HP large format PageWide T1100 and PageWide C500 presses producing corrugated packaging.

Amazon Climate Pledge Friendly Program

In addition to HP inks' wide-ranging sustainability benefits, the ECOLOGO® certification has earned those inks recognition in Amazon's Climate Pledge Friendly Program

This program comprises a sizable number of globally recognized certifiers with whom Amazon has partnered, including UL ECOLOGO® Certification by UL Solutions. Amazon Climate Pledge Friendly stipulates that any listed product is thoroughly vetted according to the criteria of the certifier and meets their strict sustainability standards. A number of HP devices, both laser and inkjet, are currently included on Amazon's Climate Pledge Friendly Program sites as a result of the most recent certifications, much of HP's ink portfolio (listed in Appendix 1) have been added. Purchasers who are conscious about sustainability now have the opportunity to readily search, find, and purchase HP ECOLOGO®-certified products on Amazon.com.

Type 1 Ecolabel Certification

“ISO Standard 14024:2018 Environmental Labels and Declarations – Type 1 Environmental Labelling – Principles and Procedures” has established the requirements for products to earn Type 1 Environmental Labelling. Similar to the UL 2801 standard, “ISO 14024 is a voluntary, multiple-criteria-based third-party assessment that awards a license authorizing the use of environmental labels on products indicating overall environmental preferability...based on life cycle considerations”⁶ with the overall objective “to contribute to a reduction in the environmental impacts associated with (Type 1) products” and “encourage the demand for and supply of those products that cause less stress on the environment.”⁷

Conclusion/Our Take

HP’s well-established history of being at the forefront in its commitment to the environment started with a pledge from Messrs. Hewlett and Packard in the company’s early years to “meet the obligations of good citizenship by making contributions to the community and to the institutions in (the) society...in which we operate.”⁸ These were, at once, ambitious, thoughtful, and prescient objectives for a small-but-growing company in the mid-1950s. Since that time, HP has continually committed to countless environmental initiatives that span the advent of paper recycling and van- and carpooling in the 1970s, through 2022. The 2022 HP Sustainable Impact report says that use of recycled plastic in print cartridges, “has kept more than one billion Original HP cartridges and an estimated 149 million apparel hangers, and 5.8 billion postconsumer plastic bottles out of landfills, instead upcycling these materials for continued use.”⁹ HP earning the UL ECOLOGO® Certification for its inks confirms the company’s formidable tradition and steadfast commitment to its aim of being the most sustainable and just technology company (see hp.com/sustainableimpact).
